

Presenter: Martin Williamson

Title: Lubrication Excellence: The steps to success that you need to take

Abstract:

Whilst many companies state they want to have Best-in-class practices in terms of their lubrication, few actually achieve that status. Partly because World Class requires effort and investment that many won't make and partly because of a lack of understanding of what it takes to achieve Lubrication Excellence. The presentation will take a step-by-step approach to understanding how to show management the cost of poor lubrication, and the way to break down the improvement process into manageable milestones.